

A Closer Look at Areas of Regular Polygons 10.5

A regular polygon is a polygon in which all sides are congruent and all angles are congruent.

Equilateral triangle
Equilateral triangle

Square

Regular pentagon

Any regular polygon can be divided into congruent triangles, triangles having the same area. The area of the regular polygon can be found by finding the area of one of the congruent triangles and multiplying by the number of sides of the polygon. This method can be expressed algebraically by the formula:

$$\text{Area of a regular polygon} = \frac{1}{2}P \cdot a$$

where P represents the perimeter and a represents the apothem.

The apothem is a segment that connects the center of a regular polygon perpendicularly to a side of the regular polygon. The apothem is also the perpendicular distance from the center of the figure to a side. The apothem bisects the side of the regular polygon. In Figure 1 below, a is the length of the apothem.

The radius is a segment that connects the center of the regular polygon to a vertex of the polygon. The radius is also the distance from the center of the polygon to a vertex of the polygon. The radius bisects the interior angle of the regular polygon. In Figure 1 below, r is the length of the radius.

Diagonals of regular right triangles, 30° - 60° - 90° and 45° - 45° - 90° and the trigonometric ratios can be used to solve problems involving regular polygons.
