Exponent Matching Game:

The Chess Amateur, 1907      Games Played in the World's Championship Match Between Alexander Alekhin (holder of the Title) and E. D. Bogoljubow (challenger) Frederick Dewhurst Yates, Alexander Alekhine, 1930      The Mathematics of Paul Erdős I Ronald L. Graham, Jaroslav Nešetřil, Steve Butler, 2013-08-04 This is the most comprehensive survey of the mathematical life of the legendary Paul Erdős 1913-1996 one of the most versatile and prolific mathematicians of our time For the first time all the main areas of Erdős's research are covered in a single project Because of overwhelming response from the mathematical community the project now occupies over 1000 pages arranged into two volumes These volumes contain both high level research articles as well as key articles that survey some of the cornerstones of Erdős's work each written by a leading world specialist in the field A special chapter Early Days rare photographs and art related to Erdős complement this striking collection A unique contribution is the bibliography on Erdős's publications the most comprehensive ever published This new edition dedicated to the 100th anniversary of Paul Erdős's birth contains updates on many of the articles from the two volumes of the first edition several new articles from prominent mathematicians a new introduction more biographical information about Paul Erdős and an updated list of publications The first volume contains the unique chapter Early Days which features personal memories of Paul Erdős by a number of his colleagues The other three chapters cover number theory random methods and geometry All of these chapters are essentially updated most notably the geometry chapter that covers the recent solution of the problem on the number of distinct distances in finite planar sets which was the most popular of Erdős's favorite geometry problems      The chess-monthly, 1890      Game, Set, and Match Herbert Warren Wind, 1979      *Games Played in the Return Match for the World's Championship Between Alexander Alekhin (holder of the Title) and E. Tullock, 2013-03-14 Some time ago one of the editors Gordon Tullock stumbled on a paradox in the competition for rents He asked a previous research assistant William Hunter to work out some examples and gave a seminar on it For reasons he cannot recall but probably bad he titled his talk Efficient Rent Seeking As Editor of Public Choice he was able to publish without a referee Incidentally The Journal of Political Economy had turned it down on the grounds that the economy could not be that chaotic and hence there must be something wrong even if the referee couldn't put his finger on it

There followed a long series of articles mainly in Public Choice in which various distinguished scholars proposed solutions to the paradox The editor responded by finding fault with these solutions In this case the editor was arguing against interest He like the referee for the JPE believed that the market works if not perfectly at least very well Nevertheless the paradox resisted and persisted It was like the paradox of the liar and indeed in some cases did show exactly that paradox Eventually everyone including the editor grew tired of the matter and the discussion sort of wound down although it could not be said that it was either solved or even abated It also began to appear that it had a much larger scope than just competitive rent seeking Any contest for wealth privilege or prestige in which the chances of winning were affected by the investment of the contestants would appear to be subject to the same problem The sum of the investments in equilibrium might be much less than the prize or much more It depended on the structure of the contest but the range of structures seemed to include almost all economic competition Clearly from the standpoint of economics this was a distressing conclusion Perhaps the whole vast structure of economic analysis rested on faulty foundations Speaking frankly neither of the editors thinks the situation is that desperate We feel that there is a logical solution even if we do not know what it is The purpose of this volume is to attempt to get economists to turn to the problem and hopefully solve the paradox We present here a substantial portion of the literature on the matter We hope that the readers will be stimulated to think about the problem and even more we hope they will be able to solve it
