Technical Support

Support for this product is provided on the forum: <http://www.fsdreamteam.com/forum>

We have found that the most efficient way to provide customer assistance is through the forum, because a solution to an issue posted in public could benefit many users at once. For this reason, all questions should be posted on the forum. Please DO NOT send messages via email requesting questions about use of the product or submit bugs. You should email support only in case you need a reactivation. The forum is also open for general discussions so feel free to post any request, suggestion or comment. You can read all messages on the forum; however you must register as a user to post messages.

We suggest you install our products on fully updated Operating Systems. If you are experiencing problems during the installation or the activation, ensure you have all the Windows hot fixes and updates before contacting Technical Support.

Installation

GSX Pro for MSFS is installed through the FSDT Universal Installer, which is the standard install application that can be used to manage all your FSDT products. Through the Universal Installer, you can do all the following tasks:

- Install an add-on for MSFS from scratch.
- Uninstall or just "Unlink" a product from the Community folder.
- Keep all FSDT products updated.
- Activate a license or Deactivate a license.
- Access to the Self-help site to retrieve your product keys.
- Read the product documentation

This means there's no GSX "installer", only the FSDT Universal Installer, which you might already have from other FSDT products, and it can be downloaded freely

FSDT Universal Installer

This is the FSDT Universal Installer Main screen, which shows several products installed and activated, and GSX Pro ready to be installed.

GSX Trial options and License

To install GSX, you need to purchase a license first. However, there's no need to buy a license to use GSX on any FSDT airport, it's completely free to use with all its features, with no limitations. Buying GSX will allow you to use it on any airport, both default or 3rd party.

Because of this, and a license would be normally required to install GSX, the "Install" button will be available as long as you have at least one FSDT airport active as you can install GSX without a license and use it on FSDT airports. Without a
