1. Match each of the following changes in DNA sequence structure to its definition:

A. Deletion

B. Duplication

C. Inversion

D. Translocation

1. a section of a chromosome is inserted

2. a piece of a chromosome is deleted

3. a large section of a chromosome has moved (inverted) to a different part of a chromosome

4. a section of a chromosome appears to be on one chromosome but is on another

2. How many genetically different gametes can be produced from a diploid cell with four chromosomes pairs? Describe your answer.

There are 16 genetically different gametes that can be produced because in a diploid cell with four chromosome pairs, a chromosome with four chromosomes can produce gametes with 16 genetically different gametes.

3. Although your offspring is a combination of both of your genes, you recognize that some traits come from one independent chromosome. (For example, both of your eyes are blue, but your nose and hair are inherited together.)

That's because linked genes are found on the same chromosome. Traits that are independent assortment are not, and a heterozygous-diploid only makes only one heterozygous chromosome. Some traits will be inherited together and some will be inherited separately. Inheritance will be inherited together.

4. Describe the alignment of chromosomes during prophase I, write the equations:

Chromosomes I heterozygous diploid and heterozygous chromosomes align together, called bivalents. This is a diploid because it has two chromosomes with one from each parent and results in two bivalent chromosomes.

5. How does recombination lead to chromosomes with recombinant genes? Describe how types of genetic variation that can result from recombination.
