General Movie Discussion Questions:

Movies as History Marie L. Aquila, 2014-04-22 Popular movies can enhance the study of history. A dominant form of entertainment throughout the 20th century, they can serve as nontraditional primary sources and offer remarkable opportunities to observe attitudes about social concerns, gender, or racial issues, politics, and historical events that were current when the movies were made. This book is a topical guide for educators, providing detailed analysis of 35 movies followed by discussion questions that will help students interpret how each movie's content and themes reflect the times when it was made. The book covers four main topics: the Great Depression, World War II, the early years of the Cold War, and the changing expectations and images of women in movies from 1930 to 1970. An historical overview chronicles how each topic was treated in movies from that time period. The movies should have wide appeal in grades 7 through 12 and can help students learn to think more critically about the images and messages that appear in popular media today. Finding Faith at the Movies Barbara Mraz, 2004 Moral Theory at the Movies Dean Kowalski, 2011-12-08 Moral Theory at the Movies provides students with a wonderfully approachable introduction to ethics. The book incorporates film summaries and study questions to draw students into ethical theory and then pairs them with classical philosophical texts. The students see how moral theories, dilemmas, and questions are represented in the given films and learn to apply these theories to the world they live in. There are 36 films and a dozen readings, including Thank you for Smoking, Plato's Gorgias, John Stuart Mill's Utilitarianism, Hotel Rwanda, Plato's Republic, and Horton Hears a Who! Topics cover a wide variety of ethical theories, including ethical subjectivism, moral relativism, ethical theory, and virtue ethics. Moral Theory at the Movies will appeal to students and help them think about how philosophy is relevant today. Activities for Adolescents in Therapy Susan T. Dennison, 1998 This how-to book has been written primarily for experienced group clinicians, social workers, psychologists, psychiatrists, and school counselors. However, it may also be adapted for use by other experienced helping professionals who work with troubled adolescents in group settings, such as art therapists, special education teachers, recreation therapists, and speech language pathologists. Although the activities are intended for groups, modifications can easily be made for use in individual therapy. Reel History Robert Brent Toplin, 2002 The author makes an argument for clemency in judging Hollywood's interpretations of history and thoroughly investigates its serious limitations and opportunities to construe history. Midland Schools, 1920 Film and Radio Discussion Guide, 1944 Fibre & Fabric, 1930 Group Discussion Guide, 1944 Industrial Refrigeration, 1929 Ice and Refrigeration, 1929 The Journal of Health and Physical Education, 1943 Amateur Movie Makers, 1930 Journal of Health, Physical Education, Recreation, 1943 The Camp Fire Girl Camp Fire Girls, 1942 The Bill of Rights Bicentennial Anne E. Levinson, 1991 Doing History Linda S. Levstik, Keith C. Barton, 1997 Imagine a group of primary students debating whether Christopher Columbus should be considered a hero or eighth graders producing a video to examine whether a historic document the Bill of Rights speaks to current issues Imagine classrooms where students regularly and actively do history frame questions gather data from primary and secondary sources organize and interpret that data and share their work with different audiences Imagine too a history curriculum that reflects the rich diversity of people in the United States and around the world The authors have spent a number of years working with teachers in just such classrooms They have seen powerful historical study in classes where many of the children were recent immigrants as well as in classes where children s families have lived in the same area for nearly two hundred years Some classes are full inclusion programs where the special education and regular teachers team teach most include students with special needs at least for social studies The classrooms range from urban and suburban to rural settings But despite their differences these communities of inquiry have several things in common In each one even the youngest children describe historical study as interesting and important Moreover historical study in each of these classrooms deals with important historical content and engages students in authentic historical inquiry All students are invited to be historical participants Throughout the book the authors draw on these classrooms to provide models of instructionally sound thoughtful and thought provoking history teaching with students from a wide variety of backgrounds Most chapters also begin with a vignette from one of these classrooms These vignettes serve as snapshots of history in action including some of the obstacles even good teachers face Each is a glimpse of a particular experience of teaching and learning history The chapters put each vignette in perspective explaining why it is sound instruction and sound history and providing examples of activities ranging from the first years of primary school through the end of the middle grades In structuring the book this way the authors suggest a framework for rethinking history instruction at the elementary and middle school levels Their goal is to stimulate readers thinking relative to applying the ideas presented here to their own classrooms and students
