Le Temps En Images:

Visualiser l'invisible Nicolas Maravitti, Self-images André Rival, Klaus Honnef, 1995 Andre Rival at home in both Paris and Berlin has created a fascinating project out of a relatively simple idea 100 women taking photographs of themselves The outcome is both startling and impressive It is an expression of contemporary female identity self aware distinctive and thoroughly positive in a series of nude photographs that inexorably capture and hold our attention revealing at the same time the artist s highly creative approach to the medium of photography and to the individual selves of the women portrayed The author describes his project in this way We are inundated with pictures of women in the media Ordinarily the pictures we see seek to achieve a kind of sameness based on unwritten ideals of beauty physical perfection total fitness become the determining factors These images of women provoked as they are by the media industry awakened in me the urge to confront both that industry and myself with something else I chose to set aside my own ways of thinking and do a series of 100 women in which it was not I who would put together the photographs but the women themselves For this purpose I gave them each a shutter switch and left the room That represented the beginning of the attempt to enable the women to become photographic subjects rather than objects they were left to decide on their own which personal image of themselves they wanted to convey The conditions were the same for all of the women the same lighting the same white background and the same unchanged camera position It was essential to fix the location of the camera so that the women did not perceive themselves as being pursued by an observer instead they were able to establish distance and camera angle themselves with the aid of a video screen that showed them each camera exposure as a still photo Bulletin International Česká akademie věd a umění, Prague, 1906 Imaginary Images Gloria Morris, 1978 Jewish Pasts, German Fictions Jonathan Skolnik, 2014-03-19 Jewish Pasts German Fictions is the first comprehensive study of how German Jewish writers used images from the Spanish Jewish past to define their place in German culture and society Jonathan Skolnik argues that Jewish historical fiction was a form of cultural memory that functioned as a parallel to the modern demythologizing project of secular Jewish history writing What did it imply for a minority to imagine its history in the majority language Skolnik makes the case that the answer lies in the creation of a German Jewish minority culture in which historical fiction played a central role After Hitler s rise to power in 1933 Jewish writers and artists both in Nazi Germany and in exile employed images from the Sephardic past to grapple with the nature of fascism the predicament of exile and the destruction of European Jewry in the Holocaust The book goes on to show that this past not only helped Jews to make sense of the nonsense but served also as a window into the hopes for integration and fears about assimilation that preoccupied German Jewish writers throughout most of the nineteenth century Ultimately Skolnik positions the Jewish embrace of German culture not as an act of assimilation but rather a reinvention of Jewish identity and historical memory L'Évolution Des Idées Générales Théodule Ribot, 1897 Dictionnaire des antiquités chrétiennes contenant le résumé de tout ce qu'il est essentiel de connaître sur les origines chrétiennes jusqu'au
