medium of instruction in some subject areas has led to a rapid increase in the numbers of Chinese L1 speakers who are learning and being assessed in English. This is often done with an emphasis on reading and writing. The vast majority of assessments of English language writing are done through large scale direct testing that uses simple prompts, tasks, and short writing samples. This book explores best practices in assessing the writing in English of native speakers of Chinese. Assessing the English Language Writing of Chinese Learners of English, edited by long time experts Liz Hamp-Lyons and Yan Jin, clearly demonstrates the authors' collective years of writing and teaching about writing assessment. The book's 13 chapters, written by recognized experts in assessment of Chinese speakers learning English, represent a wide array of important topics, written in reader friendly language and offering evidence for pedagogical practices as well as high stakes testing of writing. Teachers, researchers, administrators of writing programs in China, and test developers who seek counsel about this population need look no further than to add Assessing the English Language Writing of Chinese Learners of English to their reading list.

Teaching Contemporary English Literature, Hans Osterwalder, 2017-08-14. This book provides a theoretical introduction to the task-based methodology in language and literature teaching. For teachers, the main points of interest are Part Two and Three, where a plethora of contemporary texts, both from Britain and the US, are given a literary analysis, which is followed by detailed task-based lesson plans. Part Two focuses on multiculturalism, one of the seminal issues of our time. Part Three tackles gender, another highly topical theme which students are naturally interested in. Well-known authors like the British Asian writer Hanif Kureish and the Indian American novelist Jhumpa Lahiri feature in the chapter on multiculturalism. The gender question is represented by Carol Ann Duffy, the current Poet Laureate, and Caryl Churchill, the main representative of feminist drama.
