

If possible, clearance to the top of the KMH 820 should be provided to facilitate removal and installation of the terrain database CompactFlash card. The terrain database card is removed and installed with power NOT applied to the system. The KMH 820 may be removed from the aircraft to extract and install database cards if the mounting location does not provide enough clearance.

Updating the Terrain DataBase is accomplished by:

Moving the aluminum cover over the CompactFlash card out of the way.

Pressing the flash card ejector button located within the unit.

Removing the old flash card.

Inserting the new flash card and replacing the cover.

If possible, mount the KMH 820 such that the above can be accomplished without requiring disassembly of the aircraft or removal of the KMH 820.

The KMH 820 drives three lamps and accepts input from two switches. The lamps should be identified as:

| FUNCTION      | COLOR | LEGEND                  |
|---------------|-------|-------------------------|
| Not Available | Amber | Terrain N/A or Terr N/A |
| Caution       | Amber | Terrain                 |
| Warning       | Red   | Terrain                 |

The RED Warning lamp must be located in the pilot's primary field of view.

The EGPWS provides a single 600 ohm audio output which should be connected to a un-switched/un-muted auxiliary audio input on the aircraft's audio control panel. The audio output power level is set by programming the configuration module.

2.2.3.3 Installation Procedure

- A. Slide the unit into the rack and secure it.
- B. Attach the harness to the front mating connector of the unit.
