

Chapter 2 Questions Formulations of Financial Management

1) Explain some financial variables that affect the price-earnings ratio:

- Industry: The average P/E ratio for a company's industry is a key determinant of its P/E ratio.
- Company performance: A company's P/E ratio is generally higher than the industry average if it has a higher growth rate and a higher profit margin.
- Market conditions: The P/E ratio of a company is generally higher than the industry average if the market is in a bull phase.
- Company size: The P/E ratio of a company is generally higher than the industry average if it is a large company.
- Company risk: The P/E ratio of a company is generally lower than the industry average if it is a high-risk company.

2) What is the difference between book value per share of common stock and book value per share of preferred stock? Why does this difference matter?

- Book value per share of common stock: This is the value of a company's common stock divided by the number of common shares outstanding. It is calculated as follows: $\text{Book Value per Share} = \frac{\text{Total Book Value} - \text{Preferred Stock}}{\text{Number of Common Shares}}$.
- Book value per share of preferred stock: This is the value of a company's preferred stock divided by the number of preferred shares outstanding. It is calculated as follows: $\text{Book Value per Share} = \frac{\text{Total Book Value}}{\text{Number of Preferred Shares}}$.
- The difference: The difference between the two book values is the value of the common stock. This difference matters because it represents the value of the common stock that is available to common shareholders.

3) What are some advantages, problems, and limitations for the company?

- Advantages: The company can benefit from the fact that it is a public company. It can raise capital more easily and it can benefit from the fact that it is a public company.
- Problems: The company can face problems such as the fact that it is a public company. It can face more scrutiny and it can face more competition.
- Limitations: The company can face limitations such as the fact that it is a public company. It can face more regulation and it can face more competition.

4) What is the difference between government-supervised corporations and corporations? Explain with an example.

- Government-supervised corporations: These are corporations that are supervised by the government. They are typically created by an act of Congress and they are typically used to provide public services. Example: Postal Service.
- Corporations: These are corporations that are not supervised by the government. They are typically created by a state and they are typically used to provide private services. Example: Apple.
- The difference: The difference between the two types of corporations is that government-supervised corporations are supervised by the government and they are typically used to provide public services, while corporations are not supervised by the government and they are typically used to provide private services.

5) What is the difference between a dividend and a stock repurchase?

- Dividend: A dividend is a payment made by a company to its shareholders. It is typically paid in cash and it is typically paid on a regular basis. Example: Apple.
- Stock repurchase: A stock repurchase is a payment made by a company to its shareholders. It is typically made by buying back shares of the company's stock. Example: Apple.
- The difference: The difference between a dividend and a stock repurchase is that a dividend is a payment made to all shareholders, while a stock repurchase is a payment made to a subset of shareholders.
