Women's Identities at War Susan R. Grayzel, 2014-03-19 There are few moments in history when the division between the sexes seems as natural as during wartime men go off to the war front while women stay behind on the home front But the very notion of the home front was an invention of the First World War when for the first time home and domestic became adjectives that modified the military term front Such an innovation acknowledged the significant and presumably new contributions of civilians especially women to the war effort Yet as Susan Grayzel argues throughout the war traditional notions of masculinity and femininity survived primarily through the maintenance of and indeed reemphasis on soldiering and mothering as the core of gender and national identities Drawing on sources that range from popular fiction and war memorials to newspapers and legislative debates Grayzel analyzes the effects of World War I on ideas about civic participation national service morality sexuality and identity in wartime Britain and France Despite the appearance of enormous challenges to gender roles due to the upheavals of war the forces of stability prevailed she says demonstrating the Western European gender system s remarkable resilience Orchestra and the Choir ,1880 The London Quarterly Review ,1838 The American State Reports Abraham Clark Freeman,1903 Hints on Advocacy, Intended for Practitioners in Civil and Criminal Courts Richard Harris,1881 Ottoman Women in Public Space ,2016-05-09 Using a wealth of primary sources and covering the entire Ottoman period Ottoman Women in Public Space challenges the traditional view that sees Ottoman women as a largely silent element of society restricted to the home and not seen beyond the walls of the house or the public bath Instead taking women in a variety of roles as economic and political actors prostitutes flirts and slaves the book argues that women were active participants in the public space visible present and an essential element in the everyday public life of the empire Ottoman Women in Public Space thus offers a vibrant and dynamic understanding of Ottoman history Contributors are Edith G l in Ambros Ebru Boyar Palmira Brummett Kate Fleet and Svetla Ianeva
