to life of the past differs from other Golden Guides. Instead of dealing with a single group of animals, it deals with them all. Instead of being only with the immediate present, its scope extends half a billion years. Instead of dealing with a single fossil, this guide must rely on only scant clues—shell, bone, or sundry fossil impressions. Such fossils are so scarce, so each must be studied minutely. Different and they have been stressed in the past. This is a systematic survey of fossil forms. Most fossils have only scientific names and these often refer to groups rather than to species.

We have many institutions and individuals to thank to aid with this book. Dioramas and murals of the Chicago Nat. Hist. Museum are the basis for many of our restorations. The University of Illinois, the Illinois Geological Survey, the U.S. National Museum, the University College of Swansea, the Ward's Natural History Establishment, Inc. loaned us specimens. So did M. W. Sanderson, A. E. Hagner, W. W. Hay and F. J. Koenig. Angela Heath and Shirley Osborne have assisted the senior author, and many more of our colleagues have given us photographs, specimens, comments, and suggestions.
