Eye Awakener Diary:

Eye Awakener Marcia Batiste, 2014-11-18 Our secret thoughts are in diaries The Awakener Helen Weaver, 2009-10-15 The Awakener is Helen Weaver's long awaited memoir of her adventures with Jack Kerouac Allen Ginsberg Lenny Bruce and other wild characters from the New York City of the fifties and sixties The sheltered but rebellious daughter of bookish Midwestern parents Weaver survived a repressive upbringing in the wealthy suburbs of Scarsdale and an early divorce to land in Greenwich Village just in time for the birth of rock n roll and the counterculture movement known as the Beat Generation Shortly after her arrival Kerouac Ginsberg and company old friends of her roommate arrive on their doorstep after a non stop drive from Mexico Weaver and Kerouac fall in love on sight and Kerouac moves in Weaver paints a romantic picture of Greenwich Village in the 1950s and 60s when she worked in publishing and hung out with Allen Ginsberg and the poet Richard Howard and was wild and loose getting high and falling into bed almost immediately with her crushes including Lenny Bruce Her descriptions of the Village are evocative recalling a time when she wore long skirts Capezio ballet shoes and black stockings and used to sit in the Bagatelle and have sweet vermouth on the rocks with a twist of lemon Early on she quotes Pasternak You in others this is your soul Kerouac's soul lives on through many people Joyce Johnson for one but few have been as adept as Weaver at capturing both him and the New York bohemia of the time He was lucky to have met her Tara McKelvey The New York Times Book Review There is a tendency for memoirs written by women about The Great Man to be self abnegating exercises in a kind of inverted narcissism the author seeking to prove her worth as muse as consort as chosen one Not so with Helen Weaver's beautiful plainspoken elegy for her time spent with Jack Kerouac who suddenly appeared at her door in the West Village one white frosty morning with Allen Ginsberg who knew Weaver's roommate in tow New York Post Helen Weaver's book was a revelation to me This is the most graphic honest shameless and moving documentary of what the newly liberated women in cities got up to how they lived loved and created Who knew It is time they did And here's how Carolyn Cassady Weaver recreates the excitement of a time when things were radically changing and shows us what it was like living with an eccentric genius at the turning point of his life Eventually she asks Jack to leave but they remain friends and over the years her respect for his writing grows even as Kerouac's reputation undergoes a gradual transition from enfant terrible to American icon She comes to realize that by writing On the Road he woke America up along with her from the long dream of the fifties And the Buddhist philosophy that once struck her as Jack's excuse for doing whatever he liked because nothing is real it's all a dream eventually becomes her own Helen Weaver's memoir is a riveting account of her love affair and friendship with Jack Kerouac She is both clear eyed and passionate about him and writes with truly amazing grace Ann Charters Helen Weaver has translated over fifty books from the French of which one Antonin Artaud Selected Writings Farrar Straus and Giroux was a Finalist for the National Book Award in translation in 1976 She is co author and general editor of the Larousse Encyclopedia of Astrology and author of The Daisy Sutra a book on animal perceptive introduction and analysis trace Jacob Epp's life and present a sketch and interpretation of his larger family community and Imperial world. With striking clarity the diaries and introduction together re-create a time and way of life marked by controversy and flux. They reflect significant facets of the experience of ethno-religious minorities in Imperial Russia and of the development of the southern Ukrainian frontier. Above all they fill significant missing pages of the great community-centred story of Russian Mennonite life. This book is richly illustrated with maps, black and white photographs and watercolour paintings by Cornelius Hildebrand, Jacob Epp's former village school pupil and later brother-in-law. Diary of a Bomb Aimer Campbell Muirhead, 2009. Campbell Muirhead kept a meticulous diary of his wartime RAF service from the day he set forth to train as a pilot in Canada and the USA in 1942 to the end of his wartime service with 12 Squadron Bomber Command. In this book Muirhead recalls his experiences of life in the RAF. Through the Eyes of The Eagle Pierre Anctil, 2001. The output of the Yiddish press published in Montreal starting in 1907 sheds a bright light on the mass migration of East European Jews to the city at the beginning of the twentieth century. In the period about ten years following the appearance of the first Yiddish paper Der Keneder Odler The Canadian Eagle Montreal Jews developed a dense network of religious, cultural and benevolent institutions. The number of Yiddish speakers was at that time increasing very rapidly in certain neighbourhoods in the city and for the first time one could speak of a visible Jewish community. Translated into English for the first time by historian David Rome 1910-1996 and edited by Pierre Anctil these selections from the early Montreal Yiddish press offer a rare glimpse of the forces at play in the community during its formative period. They also afford the reader a sense of the intense emotions that the Jewish newcomers grappled with. Writing in the Keneder Odler Yiddish-speaking immigrants reflected on their situation, made plans for the future and even laughed at themselves in a unique humorous vein. The Montreal Yiddish press at the time also contained exceptional descriptions of important strikes in the garment business, Yiddish theatre at the Monument National and even French Canada as seen through Jewish eyes. Illustrated with archival photographs selected by Janice Rosen, director of the Canadian Jewish Congress Archives. *A New English Dictionary on Historical Principles: part 1.
