

BUSINESS STUDIES SYLLABUS

INTRODUCTION

Business Studies is a dynamic, rigorous subject based on real life experiences and occurrences. It should be presented to the student in such a way as to clearly portray its relevance to everyday life. Furthermore, Business Studies should arouse the student's interest in such a way as to instigate the student to research further and keep abreast with developments as presented in the media. It should be constantly updated to reflect any changes in the economic, commercial, social, political, legal and technological world, with special reference to the Maltese context. Knowledge and understanding of the subject by themselves are not enough but the student must gradually develop analytical skills as well as be able to evaluate and solve related problems. Thus, Business Studies should be a tool for lifelong learning. Moreover, it should be made clear to the students from the very beginning that the term "Business" is not taken to mean merely the equivalent of the word "negozju" in Maltese but that it relates to any type of employment, commercial activity or any organisation providing a good or a service.

AIMS

1. To equip the student with a broad understanding of the activities that take place within a business environment with special reference to the local environment and the way in which changes in that environment influence business behaviour.
2. To help students realise the dynamic nature of the business world, making them aware of changes in the economic, commercial, social, political, legal and technological spheres, and how these affect business activity.
3. To develop an understanding of the roles and purposes of business activities in the public and private sectors as well as the diversity and complexity of competitive and monopolistic business activities.
4. To become aware of how the main types of business organisations are set up, organised, financed and operated and their interactions and interdependence with other organisations, consumers, employees, owners and society.
5. To develop an appreciation of the marketing of factor inputs and product outputs of businesses and the forces which determine and control them.
6. To acquire knowledge of the business language, concepts and communication skills in the decision making process.
7. To develop numeracy and literacy skills in the acquisition of data and how to interpret and present
8. such information after it has been analysed.
9. To develop an appreciation of the interdependence of all participants in the working world and how such socio-economic development may be enhanced by the co-operation and ethical behaviour of all individuals, be they employers, employees or consumers.

ASSESSMENT OBJECTIVES

Students of Business Studies should be able to:

1. Recall knowledge in relation to the specified syllabus content.
2. Use this knowledge in verbal, numerical and diagrammatic form.
3. Explain and use within the context of business, appropriate terminology, concepts, numerical calculations and elementary theories.
4. Recognise, select, interpret and apply data.
5. Organise information and apply it in an appropriate way to the solution of business problems.
6. Distinguish between evidence and opinion, make reasoned judgements and communicate them in an accurate and logical manner.
7. Be catalysts to change by making proposals and suggestions when analysing current situations in the business world.
