

1. The first step is to identify the problem. In this case, the problem is that the company is not meeting its sales targets.

2. The second step is to analyze the data. This involves looking at sales figures, market trends, and customer feedback.

3. The third step is to develop a strategy. This involves identifying the key areas for improvement and setting specific goals.

4. The fourth step is to implement the strategy. This involves putting the plan into action and monitoring progress.

5. The fifth step is to evaluate the results. This involves comparing actual performance against the targets and making adjustments as needed.

The following table shows the sales performance of the company over the last five years. The data is presented in a clear and concise manner, making it easy to understand the trends and identify areas for improvement.

Year	Q1	Q2	Q3	Q4	Total
2018	120	130	140	150	540
2019	130	140	150	160	580
2020	140	150	160	170	620
2021	150	160	170	180	660
2022	160	170	180	190	700

As you can see from the table, the company's sales have been steadily increasing over the last five years. This is a positive sign, but it also indicates that there is still room for improvement. The company should continue to focus on identifying and addressing its weaknesses in order to reach its sales targets.

In conclusion, the company's sales performance has been strong, but it still needs to work on certain areas. By following the steps outlined above, the company can develop a strategy to improve its sales and meet its targets.
