POSING TIPS FOR KIDS

1. RELAXED POSING

Depending on the age of the children, they are only a step or two above toddlers when it comes to posing. Posing should still be relaxed and given as a starting point. Simple poses that they already do naturally are a good place to begin. For instance, sitting cross-legged, holding hands with someone, or putting their hands in their pockets are good poses for this age.

As you talk to your subject and build a relationship with them, be prepared for opportunities to capture authentic smiles and unique expressions.

2. ENGAGEMENT

There really is no underestimating the power of talking and engaging with your subject. Find out what they are into and ask them questions about it. Whether it is Lego's or Barbies's, be interested in what they love and they will engage back.

Engagement will give you the coveted eye contact as well. It can be difficult to engage from behind a camera. Don't be afraid to lower the camera or shoot from the hip—photographing without looking through the viewfinder.

3. BE SILLY

Kids are notorious for the "fake" smile—the smile they pull out of their pocket the second you ask them to smile.

To avoid the fake smile, pull out your silly tricks and brush up on your very best jokes (for the older ones). Finding a way to make your subjects laugh will keep that "fake" smile away and allow you to capture genuine emotion, expressions and even laughter.
