Teaching for Learning and Learning for Teaching Christopher Klopper, Steve Drew, 2015-10-30 Teaching for Learning and Learning for Teaching focuses on the emerging global governmental and institutional agenda about higher education teaching quality and the role that peer review can play in supporting improvements in teaching and student outcomes This agenda is a pervasive element of the further development of higher education internationally through activities of governments global agencies institutions of higher education discrete disciplines and individual teachers Many universities have adopted student evaluations as a mechanism to appraise the quality of teaching These evaluations can be understood as providing a customer centric portrait of quality and when used as the sole arbiter of teaching performance they do not instill confidence in the system of evaluation by academic teaching staff Providing peer perspectives as counterpoint whether in a developmental or summative form goes some way to alleviating this imbalance and is the impetus for the resurgence of interest in peer review and observation of teaching This book seeks to recognise cases of peer review of teaching in Higher Education to affirm best practices and identify areas that require improvement in establishing local national and international benchmarks of teaching quality

Novel Diagnostic and Therapeutic Strategies in the Management of Cerebral Gliomas Valeria Barresi, Maria Caffo, Giuseppe Lombardi, Letteria Minutoli, Emeline Tabouret, Herui

Wang, 2024-10-29 Cerebral gliomas account for 45% of all primary central nervous system CNS tumors The median survival after the initial diagnosis of glioblastoma GBM is only 15 months and less than 10% of patients survive three years post diagnosis Surgical treatment followed by adjuvant therapies such as radiotherapy and chemotherapy represents the classical strategy in glioma management The revised WHO 2016 classification now distinguishes the oligodendrogliomas with 1p19q codeletion and IDH mutation from the astrocytomas with or without IDH mutations thereby creating homogenous and pathologically distinct subgroups While the status of gene expression and mutations define components of GBM subtypes it was also found that response to therapies was different for each subtype suggesting that personalized treatment based on genomic alterations could lead to a more favorable outcome for this disease

Co-use of medicines in surgery, 2nd edition

Co use of medicines in surgery is important for a successful operation There are several kinds of drugs used for preoperative intraoperative and postoperative treatment For instance the co use of sterilization anti inflammation and hemostasis drugs is necessary for most surgical operations Moreover the sedative drugs used preoperatively can alleviate patients concerns The anti allergic drugs i e hormone drugs can prevent allergies caused by some medications used during surgery The drugs inhibiting glandular secretion can reduce the secretion of sputum which keeps patients respiratory tract unobstructed and reduces the risk of aspiration Before and after surgery the use of anti cancer visceral and many other medicines play a key role in disease treatment Current disease treatment is based on medicine and surgery In many hospitals however the drug department is not directly involved in surgical operation Although the doctors have sufficient knowledge in medicines it is suggested to pay more attention to the interaction and balance between medicine and surgery With the development of new drugs there are growing needs of co use of medicines for preoperative intraoperative and postoperative treatment Therefore this Research Topic would attract surgical studies with specificities in using medicines and advanced healthcare techniques monitoring biochemical indicators and concentrations relative to pharmacokinetics understanding and balancing the interaction between medicine and surgery The outcome of the Research Topic may contribute to the improvement of surgical protocols from a pharmaceutical perspective The aim of the current Research Topic is to cover promising recent and novel research trends in co use of medicines in surgery Areas to be covered in this Research Topic may include but are not limited to Model informed medicine and surgery Medicines for preoperative intraoperative and postoperative treatment Advanced healthcare techniques Pharmacokinetics biochemical indicators and concentrations Balance of medicine and surgery from perspective of pharmacists and nurses Improved surgical protocols Sterilization anti inflammation and hemostasis drugs Sedative and anti allergic and secretion inhibiting drugs Visceral drugs for disease treatment Clinical practice and case report

Autoimmuno-Anti-Tumour Immunity (AATI) - Understanding the Immune Responses against "Self" & "Altered-self"

Fang-Ping Huang,2017-05-16 The brief description of tumours being wounds that do not heal by Dr Harold F Dworak nearly three decades ago N Engl J Med 1986 has provided not only a vivid illustration of neoplastic diseases in general but also in retrospect conceptually a plausible immunological definition of cancers Based on our current understanding in the field it could have even a multi dimensional meaning attached with This relates to several important issues which need to be addressed further i e in terms of a close link between chronic inflammation and tumourigenesis widely observed clinical and experimental evidence of immunity against tumours versus the highly immunosuppressive tumour microenvironment being associated and their underlying immunological mechanisms oncogenic basis as well as the true causal relationship in question Recent findings from studies into the pathogenesis of autoimmunity and more importantly the mechanisms which protect against it have offered some new insights for our understanding in this direction Chronic or persistent autoimmune like inflammatory conditions are evidently associated with tumor development The important question is about their true causal relationship Chronic or persistent inflammation has been shown to contribute directly to tumour development by triggering neoplastic transformation and production of inflammatory mediators which could promote cancer cell survival proliferation and invasion On the other hand tumours are mutated self tissue cells to which the host immune system is largely tolerized otherwise Although the mutations may give rise to the expression of tumour specific antigens TSA or tumour associated antigens TAA most of these TSAs TAAs are found to be poor immunogens The ongoing inflammatory conditions may therefore reflect a desperate attempt of the host immune system to mount anti tumour responses though ineffectively being a consequence of the continuous yet largely futile triggering by those poorly immunogenic TSAs TAAs Furthermore during autoimmune or overtly persistent immunological responses many regulatory mechanisms are triggered in the host in attempts to limit the ongoing harmful inflammatory reactions Such a negative feedback regulation is known to be crucial in preventing normal individuals from immune mediated diseases As a result of the negative feedback loop however an excessive production of anti inflammatory or immunosuppressive molecules followed by the exhaustion of the immune effector cells may instead lower the ability of the host immune system to mount specific anti tumor responses allowing the escape of tumour or mutated cells from immunosurveillance This may also help to explain why the most effective way to enhance host immunity against cancer is by targeting the negative arm of immune regulation In this Frontiers Research Topic we aim to gather current views from experts in these inherent overlapping fields of oncology autoimmunity and tumour immunology and to make them available to our potential readership who may be particularly interested in this cutting edge area By understanding how the immune system is normally regulated why dysregulation of which may cause the immunological oncological related diseases we also encourage further discussions as to how the so called self reactivity autoimmune responses can be alternatively switched on and redirected immunologically or molecularly for effective cancer treatment
