Grade 8 Probability Unit:

Approaches to Qualitative Research in Mathematics Education Angelika Bikner-Ahsbahr, Christine Knipping, Norma Presmeg, 2014-11-26 This volume documents a range of qualitative research approaches that emerged within mathematics education over the last three decades whilst at the same time revealing their underlying methodologies. Continuing the discussion as begun in the two 2003 ZDM issues dedicated to qualitative empirical methods, this book presents a state-of-the-art overview on qualitative research in mathematics education and beyond. The structure of the book allows the reader to use it as an actual guide for the selection of an appropriate methodology on a basis of both theoretical depth and practical implications. The methods and examples illustrate how different methodologies come to life when applied to a specific question in a specific context. Many of the methodologies described are also applicable outside mathematics education but the examples provided are chosen so as to situate the approach in a mathematical context.

Constructivist Strategies Chandra Foote, Catherine Battaglia, Paul Vermette, 2014-05-22 This book demonstrates how student-centered learning activities can help your middle and high school students meet curriculum standards. Its vivid and authentic examples will appeal to you if you embrace active learning and want to apply constructivist methodologies in your classroom. This book explains the links between constructivism and other innovative teaching practices such as cooperative learning, multiple intelligences, portfolio assessment, curriculum mapping, culturally relevant teaching, and many others. Applications of these practices in classrooms are demonstrated and displayed by sample lessons and unit plans, summary charts, classroom management models, and examples of student assessments.

Reflections on Statistics Susanne P. Lajoie, 2012-10-12 An issue in the current push for reform in mathematics education is the call to address statistics at the precollege level. This volume represents the emerging findings of an interdisciplinary collaboration among a group of mathematics educators, cognitive scientists, teachers, and statisticians to construct an understanding of how to introduce statistics education and assessment for students in elementary and secondary schools. A premise shared by the contributors to this volume is that when students are introduced to statistics at the K-12 level and provided with opportunities to do statistics that are related to actual life situations, they will be better prepared for decision making in the real world. The interdisciplinary nature of the group of researchers stimulated a lively interchange of ideas for enhancing the learning, teaching, and assessment of statistical understanding, which is reflected in this volume. Mathematics educators contribute their insights into how teachers teach mathematical ideas and heighten our awareness of the ecological needs of the current mathematics classroom. Cognitive scientists share their understanding of developmental differences in learning and present theoretical perspectives that contribute to the design of effective learning environments. Classroom teachers share their ideas about classroom activities and assessment of student learning, as well as their concerns for in-service training and workshops to help teachers acquire skills in this new content area. Statisticians offer their understanding of what is feasible to teach in the early grades and what their view is of statistical literacy The book is organized around four interdependent themes content teaching learning and assessment By focusing their respective chapters on particular themes the authors intend to cultivate a better understanding of how each relates to improvements in statistics education This is the first book to address statistics learning in grades K 12 address issues of statistical curriculum content in grades K 12 address issues of assessment of statistics learning in grades K 12 bring issues of technology instruction and assessment in statistics education in grades K 12 and look at teacher education for statistics instruction in grades K 12 This is a must read book for both practitioners and researchers involved in K 12 mathematics education
