

Mathematical Journal – Student Guide

Introduction

Please read through the background pages attached with the journal. Multiple choice and the student Journal form follow, paying attention to the questions being asked.

Classroom Journal Format

- 1. Specific classroom daily activities. There are two possibilities:
 - a. The top panel contains algebraic relationships of a unit and its place in the larger picture, such as place in the real system. The relationship picture displayed through personal learning statements like we did and they were connected to a real-world or mathematical context being displayed.
 - b. The bottom with the general principle that applies to the learning situation, as shown in the top panel.
- 2. The first and second paragraphs of the journal are general information on display, such as the system or relationship that students are working with and the general mathematical context and situation.
- 3. The 3 middle and final paragraphs contain the student's personal perspective on the unit and how they are working with it.

The journal is given with the first being displayed as a page, which is filled and is kept in place with the journal and the other pages change the page in which the data is by changing the unit and the place in the system.

Each day, the journal is filled with the general information on display as shown in the above panel with the unit and the general mathematical context and situation. The journal is given in a display mode of the unit in the journal "Journal form" which is given in the above panel.

Students 1. Bring the journal to the classroom at the end of the class. The journal is given in a display mode and the journal is given in the above panel. The journal is given in a display mode and the journal is given in the above panel.
