

POSITION PAPER: GENDER DIFFERENCES

TASK:

In preparation for our debate, write a TWO-page position paper that answers the following question:

What is the origin of the gender differences that exist in our society? Do these different gender identities emerge naturally from the biological differences between the sexes, or are we socialized (taught) by society from birth on how to be a man or a woman?

DEFINITION:

A POSITION PAPER presents an arguable opinion about an issue. The goal of a position paper is to convince the audience that your opinion is valid and worth listening to. Your job is to take one side of the argument and persuade your audience that you have a well-founded knowledge of the topic being presented. It is also important to support your argument with evidence to ensure the validity of your claims, as well as to address the counterclaims to show that you are well informed about both sides.

SAMPLE OUTLINE FOR A POSITION PAPER:

- I. Introduction (1st Paragraph)
 - A. Provide brief background on the topic (Define the concept of gender identity and provide some examples of gender differences that are accepted in our society.)
 - B. Summarize the controversy (What does each side say is the origin of these differences between boys and girls? Why is this issue so controversial?)
 - C. State your thesis (What do you think is the origin of our gender differences?)
- II. Counter Argument (2nd Paragraph)
 - A. Summarize the counterclaims (the argument of the other side)
 - B. Give cited evidence that may support the counterclaim.
 - C. Refute the counterclaims (argue against your opponents' claims)
- III. Your Argument (3rd Paragraph)
 - A. Provide point #1 of your claims – support it with cited evidence from source(s)
 - B. Provide Point #2 of your claims – support it with cited evidence from source(s)
 - C. Provide Point #3 of your claims – support it with cited evidence from source(s)
- IV. Conclusion (4th Paragraph)
 - A. Restate your thesis
 - B. Summarize your argument
 - C. Provide a plan of action (What actions need to be taken by society to resolve this debate? Why will this be beneficial to society?)

REMINDERS:

- You must argue the position selected today in class in your paper
- You must CITE any information taken directly from your sources that you use in your paper (MLA format).
- Your paper must be typed (12pt.; Times New Roman; double-spaced)

Differences in English Syntax" by Britta Mondorf Anna Klamann, 2015-08-19 Seminar paper from the year 2015 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics grade 1 0 Johannes Gutenberg University Mainz Department of English Linguistics course Syntax language English abstract This paper is a partial replication of Mondorf's 2004 study on Gender Differences in English Syntax and combines quantitative corpus data and methodology with the framework of functional grammar to analyse gender differences in finite adverbial concessive clauses headed by although and whereas. The internal factors of semantic type and position were examined and the result suggests a strong influence of sex onto the usage of finite adverbial concessive clauses with an overall result of concessive clauses being the marked domain of men. Correlations between sex and language are often taken for granted but empirical studies on this topic especially in the area of syntax are surprisingly rare. One of the main studies of the past two decades about the correlation between sex and language which investigates sex differences in specific syntactic constructions is Britta Mondorf's work Gender Differences in English Syntax Using the London-Lund Corpus. Mondorf empirically explores two areas of marked gender difference in English syntax namely tag questions and finite adverbial clauses. For the purpose of this replication study only finite adverbial concessive clauses will be considered. Mondorf's study demonstrates the existence of gender differentiated syntactic behaviour in the LLC of spoken British English and shows that women are prolific users of those syntactic constructions that signal a low degree of commitment towards the proposition expressed.

New Evidence on Gender Difference in Promotion Rates Francine D. Blau, 2006 Using a large sample of establishments drawn from the Multi-City Study of Urban Inequality (MCSUI) employer survey we study gender differences in promotion rates and in the wage gains attached to promotions. Several unique features of our data distinguish our analysis from the previous literature on this topic. First we have information on the wage increases attached to promotions and relatively few studies on gender differences have considered promotions and wage increases together. Second our data include job specific worker performance ratings allowing us to control for performance and ability more precisely than through commonly used skill indicators such as educational attainment or tenure. Third in addition to standard information on occupation and industry we have data on a number of other firm characteristics enabling us to control for these variables while still relying on a broad representative sample as opposed to a single firm or a similarly narrowly defined population. Our results indicate that women have lower probabilities of promotion and expected promotion than do men but that there is essentially no gender difference in wage growth with or without promotions.
