Scaling Up Disruptive Agricultural Technologies in Africa Jeehye Kim, Parmesh Shah, Joanne Catherine Gaskell, Ashesh Prasann, 2020-07-16 This study which includes a pilot intervention in Kenya aims to further the state of knowledge about the emerging trend of disruptive agricultural technologies DATs in Africa with a focus on supply side dynamics The first part of the study is a stocktaking analysis to assess the number scope trend and characteristics of scalable disruptive technology innovators in agriculture in Africa From a database of 434 existing DAT operations the analysis identified 194 as scalable The second part of the study is a comparative case study of Africa s two most successful DAT ecosystems in Kenya and Nigeria which together account for half of Sub Saharan Africa s active DATs The objective of these two case studies is to understand the successes challenges and opportunities faced by each country in fostering a conducive innovation ecosystem for scaling up DATs The case study analysis focuses on six dimensions of the innovation ecosystem in Kenya and Nigeria finance regulatory environment culture density human capital and infrastructure The third part of the study is based on the interactions and learnings from a pilot event to boost the innovation ecosystem in Kenya The Disruptive Agricultural Technology Innovation Knowledge and Challenge Conference in Nairobi Kenya brought together more than 300 key stakeholders from large technology companies agribusiness companies and public agencies government representatives and experts from research and academic institutions and representatives from financial institutions foundations donors and venture capitalists Scaling Up Disruptive Agricultural Technologies in Africa concludes by establishing that DATs are demonstrating early indications of a positive impact in addressing food system constraints It offers potential entry points and policy recommendations to facilitate the broader adoption of DATs and improve the overall food system Dare to Invent the Future Clapperton Chakanetsa Mavhunga, 2023-11-21 A rallying manifesto for the innovative problem solving we need to build a better more verdant and sustainable planetary existence Academics are letting Africa down With all that we know what do we have to show for it Whose lives have been changed for the better by it What have we done for and with our communities lately In this provocative book the first in a trilogy Clapperton Chakanetsa Mavhunga argues that our critical thinkers must become actual thinker doers Taking its title from one of Thomas Sankara s most inspirational speeches Dare to Invent the Future looks for moments in Africa s story where precedents of critical thought and knowledge in service of problem solving are evident to inspire readers to dare to invent such a knowledge system Mavhunga revisits insights from Edward Wilmot Blyden Booker T Washington Aim C saire Frantz Fanon Am Icar Cabral Julius Nyerere and Thomas Sankara to illustrate how the academic disciplines have been and could be deployed in the service of and through problem solving building on what people are doing and know At its core he writes knowledge in the service of and through problem solving derives from reading the past for new questions doing due diligence in the present and contriving an anticipatory approach toward the future Questioning the fundamental premises of Western and white knowledge production especially regarding science and technology Mavhunga proposes in this book refreshingly new approaches to thinking doing that stem from African realities in the hopes of inspiring a generation that will run toward not away from problems to solve them

Economic Survey ,2016 Millennium Development Goals ,2006 The Ballot ,2015-06 Millenium Development Goals: Goal no. 1; eradication of extreme poverty and hunger ,2006 The Status of Student Involvement in University Governance in Kenya M. Mulinge,N. Arasa,2017-05-05 This book examines the concept of the democratization of governance in universities in Kenya with particular emphasis on students involvement in governance processes and decision making Data were collected from members of the student community utilizing a structured self administered questionnaire and from purposively selected key informants and focus group discussants drawn from Kenyatta University representing the public sector and the United States International University representing the private sector The guiding argument for the study was that shared governance one of the principles of good governance is critical in enabling the universities to deliver their visions and the missions effectively The results revealed that while in principle Kenyan universities have embraced democratic governance in which all stakeholders including students have a role to play in practice they continue to violate the core principles of good governance particularly shared governance Specifically students who are major stakeholders in university education are largely excluded from significant structures of governance thereby limiting their influence and participation Although their representation is mainly provided via student self governance organs unions associations and or councils their effectiveness is undermined considerably by the lack of trust and confidence of the student body and the unending manipulation by top university administrators and external political actors Student active involvement in decision making is mainly confined to lower levels such as the school faculty and departmental programme The authors call for a paradigm shift in the involvement of students in the governance of universities in ways that discourage the current culture of tokenism and political correctness that characterizes public and private universities in Kenya Kenya Engineer ,2005
