book argues that the Church should be challenged and ministered to by survivors. Paying careful attention to her interviews with Christian women survivors, Shooter finds that through painful experiences of transformation they have surprisingly become potential agents of transformation for others. Shooter brings the survivors' narratives into dialogue with the story of Job and with medieval mystic Marguerite Porete's spirituality of annihilation. Culminating in an engagement with contemporary feminist theology concerning power and powerlessness, there emerges a set of principles for authentic community spirituality which crosses boundaries with God, supports appropriate human boundaries, and crucially listens attentively. Appealing to Church leaders, students, practitioners, and practical theologians, this book offers a creative and ethical theological enquiry as well as some spiritual anchor points for survivors.
