

The Urinary System

The urinary system consists of two kidneys, two ureters, a urinary bladder, and a urethra. The kidneys filter blood, remove waste, and regulate the body's fluid balance. The ureters carry urine from the kidneys to the bladder, and the urethra carries it out of the body.

Structure of the kidneys

The kidneys are located on each side of the spine in the abdominal cavity. Each kidney is bean-shaped and has a concave medial border. The outer layer is the renal cortex, and the inner region is the renal medulla. The renal medulla is divided into renal pyramids. The renal pyramids are separated by renal columns. The renal pelvis is the funnel-shaped part of the kidney that leads to the ureter.

Structure of the bladder

The urinary bladder is a sac-like structure that stores urine. It is located in the pelvic cavity. The bladder has a muscular wall and a fold of peritoneum called the urinary bladder peritoneum. The bladder is connected to the ureters and the urethra.

The outer layer is the renal cortex, and the inner region is the renal medulla. The renal medulla is divided into renal pyramids. The renal pyramids are separated by renal columns. The renal pelvis is the funnel-shaped part of the kidney that leads to the ureter.

The nephron

The nephron is the basic functional unit of the kidney. It consists of a renal corpuscle and a renal tubule. The renal corpuscle is composed of a glomerulus and Bowman's capsule. The renal tubule is a long, coiled tube that carries urine away from the renal corpuscle.

Renal corpuscle

The renal corpuscle is the part of the nephron where blood is filtered. It consists of a glomerulus and Bowman's capsule. The glomerulus is a tuft of capillaries that is surrounded by the Bowman's capsule. The Bowman's capsule is a double-walled structure that surrounds the glomerulus. The space between the two walls of the Bowman's capsule is called the Bowman's space.

How urine is produced

The kidney produces an average of 200 quarts of urine daily, excreting only about 1 quart of urine each day. Urine is produced in the nephrons. In a complex process of reabsorption and secretion along the renal tubule, concentrated urine containing water and wastes (such as sodium and other electrolytes) is formed by the renal tubule. The urine then flows into the collecting duct, which carries it to the bladder.

Key steps of urine formation

- Filtration: Filtering of water, waste products, sodium, glucose, and other chemicals.
- Reabsorption: Reabsorption of water substances back to the bloodstream.
- Secretion: Secretion of waste substances from capillaries around the renal tubule back into the distal tubule for removal with the urine.
