Case Project 4-1

- a. The two potential amounts of 1000 and 10000 from the above show a significant difference in value. This guarantees a monthly fixed rate for a single high dollar amount over the entire duration of the contract for the three office using traditional computing equipment based on hardware.
- b. The two values shown in this table are 10000 and 100000. The amount shown in the table is based on 10000, which is based on a single fixed amount for each digital equipment, a single amount shown in the table showing the cost of the equipment and the maintenance, and the required cost for the entire contract (single equipment).
