

The Case Analysis

A Brief Overview of the Case Analysis

The case analysis is a common assignment across a number of business courses, particularly those at the 300, 400, and graduate levels. A case analysis shows your professor that you (and your group, if assigned as a collaborative project) can think through a real-life business problem or decision-making process in a logical, professional, ethical, and informed manner. Your primary purpose, then, is to apply your critical-thinking skills and business expertise to a problem faced by a real company and propose a logical, realistic solution.

Your primary audience is your professor; however, a successful case analysis keeps the needs of a real-life businessperson in mind. Your professor likely has the knowledge and background to understand the problem and know which solution would be most effective. However, your professor is interested in seeing how well you can explain and justify your decisions, much as you would need to do in a real-world business setting. Therefore, you should include enough detail throughout the report that a non-expert, non-professor businessperson can follow your thinking process and enact the solution you propose.

All business writing should be done with an eye toward professionalism. After all, outside of the university (and sometimes for academic courses), the audience for your writing will be a colleague or client. Your writing should not be overly formal, but rather should communicate with the reader in a respectful and efficient manner. Typically, the emphasis of business writing is on ideas, things, and the reader; references to the writer, first-person ("I," "me," and "my") or otherwise ("the writer believes...") should be used sparingly.

Structure and Format

Your professor's assignment sheet will likely detail exactly what should be included in your case analysis, so you should read it carefully and refer to it frequently during your writing process. Generally, however, your document will be split into sections, each with its own heading. Those sections are typically:

Table of Contents

The table of contents lists each section of the report and the page number on which each can be found. Each sub-section of the report should be listed, as well as each visual aid you might include in the appendix.

Abstract

The abstract briefly describes the company or organization you studied, the problem it faced, the thinking process you followed, and the outcome or solution you propose. In business writing,

The purpose of a case analysis is to show your professor that you can think through a real-life business problem or decision-making process in a logical, professional, ethical, and informed manner.

Your professor may not require an abstract or table of contents. Refer to the assignment sheet to ensure you include all the sections required by your professor.

Research Methods for Students, Academics and Professionals Kirsty Williamson, 2002-07-01 Research is such an important subject for information professionals that there will always be a need for effective guides to it. Research skills are a prerequisite for those who want to work successfully in information environments: an essential set of tools which enable information workers to become information professionals. This book focuses on producing critical consumers of research. It also goes some way towards producing researchers in the fields of information management and systems. The first edition of this book was enthusiastically received by researchers, students and information professionals in Australia and beyond. Reviews of the first edition considered it a worthwhile addition to any information professional's or research student's reference shelf. Archives and it has a multi-disciplinary focus with its authors being drawn from information management, librarianship, archives and recordkeeping and information systems. The numerous examples throughout the book are drawn from these multiple disciplines. The first edition of this book was road tested with students from several disciplines who are studying in several universities. Its Introduction noted that in research terms the content has been refereed and found to be authoritative. To this can be added the many satisfied users of the first edition.

Why Teach with Cases? Cle-Anne Gabriel, 2022-11-07 This is the first book for educators that combines case pedagogy at a philosophical level with evidence from practical experience into a single volume. It is an implementation-ready resource that converges with a time of change in the field of education as a result of the COVID-19 pandemic.

Metadiscursive Nouns Feng (Kevin) Jiang, 2022-06-23 Based on a 1.7 million word corpus of 160 research articles from both soft and hard knowledge fields, this book sets out to explore how a particular type of noun, namely the metadiscursive noun, is rhetorically used to mediate writer-reader interaction in disciplinary writing. Analysts of academic discourse have come to regard hedges, reporting verbs, directives and so on as forming part of a wide repertoire of interactive features available to authors, suggesting a variety of terms including evaluation, stance, appraisal and metadiscourse. One aspect which has been less fully explored, however, is the rhetorical role nouns play in achieving writers' persuasive goals. This book fills the gap by proposing a particular type of nouns as metadiscursive nouns, as in this it supports our hypotheses that youth are more likely to co-offend when neighbourhoods are less disadvantaged. The author aims to find out how writers employ metadiscursive nouns to engage and interact with readers in academic prose, raising theoretical and pedagogical implications and how they can be applied in the teaching of academic writing. This book will be of particular interest to students and scholars working in the areas of English for academic purposes, corpus studies, academic writing and linguistics in general.

Cases in Strategic Management Glenn Boseman, Arvind Phatak, 1988-01-18 This text is intended to teach the concepts and techniques of strategic management while simultaneously introducing an approach to identifying strategic issues and problems within organizations It opens by presenting a general framework for case analysis which shows how to use strategic management concepts during the analytical process This is followed by a case Overseas National Airways and an analysis illustrating how the suggested framework has been applied The body of the text offers a rich assortment of current cases balanced between service and manufacturing organizations and ranging from the simple to those requiring more complex analysis The cases selected here also represent a variety of industry conditions from incipient to mature industries
