

WILDFIRE PREPARATION

WILDFIRE FACTS

Wildfires are becoming increasingly more common with climate change, and they cause major hazards for both people and businesses. According to the EPA, the area burned by wildfires appears to have been increasing since the 1980s, and the largest increases have occurred during the spring and summer months.

EVACUATION PLAN

Have an evacuation plan in place that includes the conditions that will activate the plan, the chain of command, emergency functions and who will perform them, specific evacuation procedures, including routes and exits, procedures for accounting for personnel, customers, and visitors, and equipment for personnel.

SAFETY ZONE

Create a safety zone by removing combustible materials and reducing the volume of vegetation to a minimum within a 30-foot zone of buildings. Stay clear of overhead lines, maintain at least a 10-foot clearance, and use compliant line-clearance tree trimmers to clear branches and shrubs within 15 feet of chimneys or stovepipes.

VEGETATION

Remove vines from the walls of buildings, mow grass, and replace plants with less flammable species to help provide more protection against wildfires spreading. OSHA recommends an additional 70-foot secondary safety zone since increasing the distance between a building and vegetation will increase the level of protection.

HAZWOPER

Employers who have workers that will be involved in emergency response operations involving the releases of hazardous substances, regardless of the location of the hazard, must comply with OSHA's Hazardous Waste Operations and Emergency Response (HAZWOPER) standard. This also applies to the earthquake emergency response.

TRAINING

Train workers to know what to do in emergency situations and have them practice evacuation plans on a regular basis. Update plans and procedures based on lessons learned from practices. Responders especially must regularly train for the hazards present during wildfire response operations.
