Decommunization in Bulgaria, 1999
The Triggering Procedure of the International Criminal Court Héctor Olásolo, 2005
The Rome Statute unlike the statutes of the International Criminal Tribunals for the former Yugoslavia and for Rwanda creates a permanent court whose dormant jurisdiction covers the territory and includes the nationals of States Parties and is universal in cases where the Security Council makes a referral Besides unlike the ad hoc tribunals which have jurisdiction over specific crisis situations whose personal territorial and temporal parameters have been defined in their respective statutes by the UN Security Council in the case of the ICC it is not possible to determine a priori in which situations the ICC will be involved As a result the most relevant activity of the Court is the determination of those situations regarding which the dormant jurisdiction of the Court will be triggered The book The Triggering Procedure of the International Criminal Court constitutes the first comprehensive analysis of the proceedings that prior to any criminal investigation aim to make such a fundamental determination

International Law and the Russian Legal System Bogdan Leonidovich Zimnenko, 2007
This work analyzes the interaction between international law and the Russian legal system at a level of detail and sophistication without precedent in Russian legal doctrine This topic has become vital for Russian courts because generally recognized principles and norms of international law and international treaties have become part of the Russian legal system since the Constitution of Russia was adopted in 1993 Great attention is paid in this study to Russian judicial practice in applying customary and treaty norms the author had access to unpublished decisions in the archives of the Russian Supreme Court and other courts of the Russian

Federation The book also gives attention to the impact of decisions of international organizations and the practice of the European Court for Human Rights The author sets out the legal foundations of the interaction between international law and municipal law in relations between subjects of international and national law and he addresses at length whether and when the direct application of international legal norms is possible in the domestic legal relations of Russia The book raises to a new level the continuing discussion of the correlation of international and national law Classic concepts of monism and dualism cannot cope with all aspects of the interaction of international and national law International Law and the Russian Legal System will be of interest to academics practicing lawyers government legal advisors and investors
