Student Exploration: Seasons: Earth, Moon, and Sun

Background Seasons are caused by Earth's rotation, tilt, and revolution around the Sun.

Prior Knowledge Questions (Do these BEFORE using the Gizmo.)

1. Suppose you were stranded in the Southern United States during a storm. How would you know which way is north, or a particular season? I don't know. I would just ask.
2. How would you determine if you were in the Northern Hemisphere? I would look at the stars.

Warm-Up

Thousands of years ago, people had already begun writing down their knowledge of the world, and particularly of the sun and the planets. However, they had never seen the sun from space. It was only in the 1960s that we were able to see the sun from space.

In the Seasons Gizmo, below, you can see the sun from space. Use the Gizmo to explore the seasons of the sun from space.

Click the Simulation button at the top right of the Gizmo, and observe the simulation.

1. What season is it on Earth? The Earth is rotating.
2. How does the sun appear to move in the sky? The sun moves in the sky.
3. How does the sun appear to change in size? The sun changes in size.
4. How does the sun appear to change in color? The sun changes in color.
